

5 Top Tips for Embedding Distance Learning into your Teaching Strategy

1

Encourage learners to create a dedicated study environment free from distractions.

2

Set clear instructions for each task and ensure your learners understand the learning outcomes.

3

Blend new learning with revision – set your class a weekly challenge to revise a topic that you've already taught them.

4

Use it as an opportunity to support their personal development and to learn key skills required for life beyond education.

5

Let your learners know that you are available for help. Provide them with your contact details and consider setting up a private chat group for your class such as Teams or Facebook.
