Qualification Overview

This qualification provides learners with the underpinning knowledge needed before undertaking a role within the policing industry. It includes an introduction to the powers of the police as well as an overview of the criminal justice system. The main focus of the qualification is on developing a deep understanding of the issues faced by the police service in ensuring diversity and equality within the force. Through studying this qualification, learners will gain an appreciation for these general principles as well as in relation to both the police service and their own personal beliefs. Deeper understanding of issues of diversity, equal opportunity, ethics and values will enable the learner to appreciate the important role community policing plays in meeting the Policing Vision 2025.

Aims

The aims of the qualification are to enable learners:

- To understand the importance of diversity within the police service
- To be able to explain the role of ethics and values in policing practice
- To be able to understand and apply police powers
- To understand the role of equal opportunities in promoting diversity within the police service

Target Group

This qualification is aimed at a range of learners, including:

- those learners expressing an interest in working within the police and services allied to the sector.
- in-service staff interested in understanding contemporary issues and evolving regulation within policing.
